SERVICE GAPS & BARRIERS

- Due to lack of shelter space, 335 women were unable to stay in emergency shelter. Women are still supported to find alternative emergency shelter including referrals to another County.
- A sexual assault centre does not exist in Perth County, which would support existing services.
- Victims of sexual assault must leave Perth County to obtain a rape kit.
- A safe consumption site does not exist in Perth County, which would support existing services.
- There has been an increase in acuity and complexity of cases across the board.
- Funding is static and does not increase with increased client demand. There are waitlists to service due to insufficient funding.
- Many people, especially vulnerable populations, continue to struggle with finding housing that they can afford and that meets their needs.

ADVANCEMENTS & ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- OP broke ground on an addition to their existing shelter that will add an additional 15 emergency shelter beds for women and children in Perth County.
- StopVAW members started working with GBV agencies in Perth and Huron to pilot a collaborative approach to Sexual Violence Services that builds on promising practices developed by Sexual Assault Centres to be adapted and delivered by multiple providers across a rural region.
- 85% of VAW shelter clients are given information for referrals to other related supports.
- Sexual Assault Treatment Program expanded to support men who have experienced sexual violence.
- OP collaborates with local homelessness services and motels to keep women sheltered in their home communities where they are closer to natural supports and eligible for social services.
- Development and release of a Perth County Domestic Violence Training Video, led by the Survivor Advisory Group, to inform local front-line services, and provide public awareness of the effects of intimate partner violence and how individuals can approach and address survivors of violence in their work and lives.
- While virtual support can have risks, in many cases it has reduced barriers to services in a rural community, and provided additional options for access, including access to testify remotely in supportive spaces.
- Local municipalities and community organizations acknowledged the lack of affordable housing and actively looked at ways to create a broad range of housing options that meets the needs of all residents.
- 8 individuals with Special Provincial Priority (SPP) status moved into Rent-Geared-to-Income (RGI) housing.
